

Raversys is delighted to announce the launch of our UK operations, with a new base in Durham, as part of our commitment to supporting local businesses with innovative digital solutions.

With extensive experience delivering projects across multiple industries—including custom web and mobile applications, e-commerce platforms, enterprise software, and SaaS products—Raversys combines technical expertise with a strong understanding of business challenges. Our solutions are designed to help organisations streamline operations, enhance customer engagement, and drive sustainable growth.

A key strength of Raversys is our extensive development unit in North Africa, enabling us to offer:

- Scalable development capacity with a wide range of technical skills
- Cost-effective solutions without compromising quality
- A hybrid delivery model, ensuring local presence and global efficiency

Why Durham?

We believe Durham's dynamic business community and collaborative spirit make it the perfect location to expand our services in the UK. Being part of this region allows us to work closely with local businesses, build strong relationships, and contribute positively to the regional economy.

We are excited to connect with fellow members of the Durham Business Group and explore opportunities to support your digital projects, whether you're looking to develop a bespoke system, modernise your existing technology, or embrace new digital tools for growth.
